Access to State and Federal Registries of Sexual Offenders

Through our research and programming, PIC has developed its site of State and Federal Sex Offender registries at one location. For one small fee, the user will have access to all of these sites to locate registered sex offenders for the sole purpose of knowing where these offenders are residing in their communities.

We caution that such information is to be used for informative purposes only and not to be used to harass, intimidate or harm any person on this list. Such actions are against the law and will be dealt with accordingly by police authorities.

EVERY attempt has been made, when it has been available, to provide access to individual state, federal, and law enforcement registries through a 'portal' page at which you are apprised of any requirements, constraints, privacy and confidentiality issues, limitations of liability, policies, terms and conditions for access to the registries/databases provided. If you choose to proceed with accessing the official sexual offender database services, you must read all of the introductory and precedent text describing limitations, restrictions, usage, and possible criminal penalties for misuse! By accessing the registries below, you expressly consent to and agree to abide by and be subject to any and all restrictions and conditions stated either herein or on any of the website pages you will have access to through our links below. You also consent and agree to waive any and all rights that you may or might have against the Prison Information Clearinghouse (PIC) that arise out of your use of and/or reliance on this website. It remains your responsibility to verify any information you obtain from these governmentally maintained and provided databases, and to use that information responsibly and carefully. If you wish more information, or you discover any errors in the databases, you should seek out the appropriate and responsible state, federal, or law enforcement agency.

PIC offers convenient access to the various State and Federal databases of registered sexual offenders. We do not host these databases and have neither control over nor responsibility for the content therein. We cannot and do not guarantee or warranty the validity, timeliness, or completeness of the information provided by the various governmental jurisdictions. PIC accepts no responsibility or liability for damages of any kind resulting from reliance on this information or lack thereof.
